

I understand that the FCC wants to "gut" Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. This should not be done! It is no business of the FCC to govern this type of a law in Indiana or any other state. Again this is a classic case of "Big Government". Before this law was introduced my wife and I would receive anywhere from 10 to 15 calls a week. Now we receive maybe 1 which has really allowed us to spend more time with our businesses and family. My view is if I wanted to do business with a company I would call them, they don't need to call me,...."don't call us, we'll call you". I feel this law should be left alone period. Let the people in the states determine who should be calling on them, not the FCC or Federal Government.

Thank you for your time.
